reckoned in collecting freight. One of these was marked "Wm. Mills, Los Angeles," the other, "J. M. Moore, Idaho City."

These boxes came into the hands of Wells, Fargo & Co., as freight agents for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The first box leaked something, which looked like oil, which had run down upon and damaged the other. They were removed from the wharf, and as it was a case of damage, Mr. Webster, the freight clerk of Wells, Fargo & Co., sent for Mr. Haven, the freight clerk of the Union club, to examine the same.

Both gentlemen descended to the courtyard and afterwards proceeded to the Union club, by the exterior stairway. The boxes were in the yard, and it is but natural to suppose that in examining the box which was leaking, they proceeded to open the same, when the concussion caused the explosion. This supposition is carried out from the fact that nitro-glycerine only explodes like a percussion cap, on concussion, and that both Mr. Webster and Mr. Haven were absolutely rent to pieces, showing that they must have been immediately over or near the explosive material.

Mr. Bell's servant says that Mr. Bell had sent him orders to have his horse saddled and ready at the side door, which led into the yard of Wells, Fargo & Co., at about 10 o'clock, as he was en route for Petaluma. Mr. Bell left his office at 10 o'clock, and went to mount his horse, the servant still having him by the head, only a few feet from where he was standing around a box exposed to the sun. Two of them were Mr. Haven, of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, and Mr. Frank Webster, of Wells, Fargo & Co., the other two being workmen, one of whom had a hammer or hatchet in his hand, and the other what seemed to be an iron claw chisel. The wooden cover of the case had just been forced off, when one of the gentlemen spoke to Mr. Bell, (he being a chemist), as if to ask his opinion of the damage. Mr. Bell turned to his servant and remarked that he might go on to the boat and he would overtake him in a moment; and following his orders he turned the horse and led him towards the gateway on California street.

This person was about the last living man who saw the men and the case before the fatal explosion.

It is now ascertained that the first box contained nitro-glycerine, though it was not so marked.

PORTS OF THE SHOCK.

The solid stone pavement under which a box exploded was driven down into the rocky ground nearly two feet.

In the debris half dollars were found bent, and as if to illustrate the terrific power of the explosive material, on the body of one of the goldfishes of liberty is indented the word "America," from the obverse side of the coin.

The new two and a half story brick building of the Spring Valley Water Works company was moved some two or three inches from the line of its foundation, and a glass, at the same time, was shattered, was carried upwards upon the roof to a distance of 20 feet. He escaped with a light scratch on one of his legs. Fragments of human remains were found scattered in every direction. In the auction rooms of Messrs. Cobb & Sinton, on the east side of Montgomery street, lay a human brain, almost intact, no other fragments of the body near it.

A piece of a human spine was blown over the buildings on the east side of Montgomery street, and was picked up on Leidesdorff street.

A piece of a skull was lying on Leidesdorff street, with other fragments of human remains, and a human arm struck the third story window of the building occupied by Sweeney.

Glass was broken as far off as Stockton street on the west, Street street on the north, Washington street on the north, and Front street on the east. Within a full block in any direction from the force of the explosion, hardly a whole pane of glass is left.

A large number of gentlemen were at lunch in the dining hall of the Union Club, immediately north of the kitchen, the doors and windows of which were blown to atoms. They were covered with fragments of glass, splinters, etc., but, wonderful to tell, none were killed, and but three or four slightly hurt.

The body of a man was found lying at the head of a horse, which latter had been standing in the yard. The body of the man was so mutilated that the remains could not be recognized.

Immediately after the explosion, the concussion breaking the glass in the vicinity, the latter, in its descent in the particles, resembled a fall of snow, and passers-by, crowded at the hour of the day at which the explosion occurred, the Union Club rooms and the area below contained many people at the moment whose names may be recollected, and it is therefore impossible to say how many were really killed or injured. It is known, however, that nine persons were killed; 12 severely injured; and more than 50 slightly injured. Two others are known to be missing.

DAMAGE TO PROPERTY.

It is estimated that the total damage by the destruction of glass alone cannot be less than $20,000, and the total loss to property of every description by the explosion can hardly foot up under $200,000; it may reach a far larger figure.

MR. DECHER'S EXPERIENCE.—Rev. Henry Ward Decher told his religious experience at one of his recent conference addresses in Brooklyn. He said he was a Presbyterian, and after graduating at Cincinnati, and was still not only a Christian, but skeptical. The influence of his father decided him to study. One of the sons had swung off into skepticism and should another follow it would break the old man's heart. He did not intend to be a minister. The study of theology would hurt him, and he need not go into the work when the course was completed. Without conversion and without believing in Christianity he became a student of theology. While in the seminary some ladies belonging to the first families of Cincinnati, connected with the Second church, urged him to become teacher in a Bible class. What could he do? He was skeptical, and how could he teach in what he did not know, and how could he teach in what he did not believe? He was a member of the church and a theological student. He accepted the trust that he could not honorably decline. All he need do was to tell the class what the gospel contained. He need not tell them what he thought of them. So he began his work. He studied and collated the Gospel. He took all passages, not that passages, but that bore on the character of Jesus, and his relations to guilty and lost men. Jesus appeared to him in those Scriptures. He saw the rock and the waters gushed out. He saw the Saviour in all his love and compassion, and fell at his feet to adore. "Never till I get Decher," said one of the deacons, "will I have brighter visions of my Redeemer. I saw Jesus in all things—in the flowers, in the fruit, in the trees and in the sky, and above all in the Gospel."

—An exchange tells of a man who stopped his newspaper on Saturday and died on Tuesday. A terrible warning.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

The Atlantic and Gulf Squadrons are being rapidly reduced.

The Episcopal Convention of Louisiana, after several ballots, chose Mr. Wilson as Bishop of the diocese of Louisiana, to succeed Bishop Leominas Polk.

Great excitement has been caused among the members of the Fenian Brotherhood in Brooklyn, by the discovery of a large defalcation by a prominent officer of the order.

Among the amendments to the tax bill is one taking off from passengers the 2½ per cent. tax added upon them by the internal revenue bill. It will be put upon the corporation bill.

Gen. Orris S. Perry was, on the 23d, elected United States Senator from Connecticut for six years, in place of Mr. Foster, now President of the Senate, whose term of service expires on the 4th of March, 1867.

General Grant has directed the muster-out of six more colored regiments, while seventeen thousand will be retained in the service. It is intended to send a number of them to the West.

The National Steamship Navigation Company have determined to carry no more German emigrants by their line for the present, in consequence of their experience with the Virginia and the England.

Another revolution has broken out in San Domingo. The government troops have been defeated, with loss of prisoners. It is stated that the Haytian government has supplied the revolutionists with money and arms.

The experiment of running a line of steamers between Philadelphia and Europe has at last proved a success. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company having taken hold of the matter, the steamers now are running with full cargoes.

The German question is more threatening than ever, and was seen in the fact that Austria and Italy, as well as Prussia. Troops are being hurried into the field, and all possible preparations made by all the powers.

It is reported upon good authority that the Judiciary Committee have come to the conclusion that the evidence produced before them does not warrant the charge that Jeff Davis is guilty of complicity in the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

The health of Jeff Davis is reported to be improving. He is allowed abundance of liquors, and cigars, and other "little comforts" are extended him through the courtesy of the officers. His wife is allowed uninterrupted access to him at certain hours.

Washington specials say the belief obtains in diplomatic circles that a European war is inevitable, that Napoleon will draw his troops from Mexico at an early day, and that Maximilian will find himself obliged to return with them for want of money.

Two boats loaded, it is supposed, with Fenian arms, and a landing on Indian Island, near Eastport, on the 21st, and several rounds of shot were exchanged. The British war steamer Mermaid from Campo Bello to the scene of action, when the Fenians retreated.

It is reported that Spain is actively preparing for the coming shock of the great European war. Her Mediterranean ports are being reinforced. It is thought that an offer on the part of the United States of mediation between Spain and her enemies on the Pacific would be very agreeable to the Cabinet of the Queen.

Recent Mexican advances state that Maximilian has effected a loan in Europe. A large quantity of arms shipped from New York, had arrived at Vera Cruz, for the use of the Imperialists. Twenty thousand Austrian troops have been shipped for Mexico since the French Government announced its intention of withdrawing its contingent.

Newspaper accounts from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and North Carolina, represent the growing crop of cotton as seriously impaired by cold weather, heavy rains, and the overflow of cotton lands, and stands are bad. Defective seed, in a great measure, is the cause of failure.

The President has approved the following bills and joint resolutions: authorizing the coining of copper and nickel five cent pieces; laying a duty of twenty per cent. on imported horses, cattle, swine and sheep; giving the Vice-Admiral a Secretary, and authorizing the selection of a proper site in the city of New York for a Postoffice building.

The Commissioner of Agriculture lately received from the Royal Agricultural Society of Austria a very fine collection of choice seeds, donated to the United States for experimental purposes. He is of the opinion that many of these seeds are adapted to the American climate, and will therefore prove a valuable acquisition to the agricultural interests of the country.

Much surprise is expressed in Washington at the conduct of Baron Stockel, the Russian Minister, in calling upon Senator Romero. Mr. Romero is not recognized by any other members of the Diplomatic Corps in Washington, nor from personal considerations at all, but because he is regarded as not representing any court or legitimate Government.

The House Committee has had up the Mexican question, and in their discussion the Monroe Doctrine was adhered to. As to guaranteeing the $50,000,000 bonds, the committee thought it best to sell to Mexico war material or ships, or even to take her bonds in payment, rather than guarantee any of her indebtedness, but the House probably could not be brought to either in force or sell on credit, while the Senate surely could not.

A fearful explosion took place on board the steam tug Lion near Hoeholms, on the 15th inst. The boiler exploded, large pieces being blown into the air and landed on shore about 26 yards distant. It is supposed that six lives were lost by the accident. About 30 persons were on board. The captain had a miraculous escape, having been thrown 30 feet into the air, and having fallen into the river. Several persons severely injured are in the Hotel Dieu.

The San learns that the arrival of Stephens, Head Centre, or central figure of the Fenian movement, has rather widened than heated the breach between the two antagonists. The chief makes an open issue with the Roberts-Sweeney party, and seems to go on with business on his own account, and the Fenians are asking each other what they have gained by exchanging O'Mahony for Stephens. It is said that the English Government is regularly supplied with official secrets of the Fenian headquarters.

Advice from the city of Mexico, up to May 3, state that a number of ex-Confederate settlers in Mexico had arrived with Maximilian, during which the Emperor welcomed them as exiles, and expressed his desire to see American capital and labor introduced into the country, and urging them at the same time to take no part in the political discussion on the question of slavery. Maximilian is especially strong in his condemnation of forced labor of every description.

The Mexican Club of New York has passed resolutions not at all complimentary to General Santa Anna, styling him, among other titles, "The most obnoxious man to Mexico; the source of her evils and calamities; the promulgator of the most anarchical; the violator of every law; the destroyer of freedom; the oppressor of the people, and the corrupter of society." They claim that he instigated the Maximilian intervention, and protest, in behalf of the Mexicans, against any sympathies being extended to him as a friend of that unhappy country.

The Spanish fleet bombarded Callao on the 20th inst., but were not met with such a vigorous resistance from the shore batteries, that the ships were compelled to retire, some of them badly damaged. The Spanish Admiral was wounded in the engagement, and Senor Galvez, Secretary of War, killed by the explosion of a battery. The damage to Callao was insignificant. Ten Peruvians were killed, and about twenty wounded. The Spanish fleet is supposed to have been large. The news of the defeat created great enthusiasm among the Peruvians. The blockade of Valparaiso has been raised.

Secretary Seward made a speech to a meeting of his friends and neighbors at Auburn on the 23d, in which he explained the political position and the present aspect of the political questions now before the country. He regards reconciliation as the one thing now requisite, not reconstruction, and thinks the President and Congress differ only in non-essentials, and that no disruption of the great National Union party will result from these differences. His speech, though a defence of the President's policy, is in conformity with the tone, and the Secretary takes the same hopeful view of affairs which has always characterized him.

A serenade was given on the night of the 23d, to the President and members of the Cabinet, and speeches were made in response favoring Mr. Johnson's policy of reconstruction. The remarks of the President were very brief. Mr. Stanton spoke at considerable length. He stated that he had been inclined to favor negro suffrage in the rebel States, but that when he saw the full discussion, his judgment had yielded to the more conservative arguments, that the Freedmen's Bureau and civil rights bills had ceased to be subjects of debate; and that he was not able to give his assent to the plan of the Reconstruction Committee, being unable to perceive the necessity, justice, or wisdom of the third section thereof, which excludes rebels from suffrage until 1870.

It was reported at Louisville that, about ten o'clock on the morning of the 18th, a construction train, with a number of hands aboard, passing over a railroad bridge at Clarksville, Tennessee, one hundred feet high, one span gave way, precipitating the cars into the water. Seven lives are said to have been lost. No particulars could be received, as the wires were down.

The Jackson County (Wis.) Honner reports that six Indians recently attempted to murder a family named Warren, residing in that vicinity. The neighbors, however, came to the rescue, and drove the savages off before they had succeeded in accomplishing their diabolical purpose.

A criminal, confined in the jail at Ravenna, Ohio, recently becoming obstreperous and unmanageable, was effectually quieted by the injection into his cell of two pounds of chloroform. He was then pinioned, and within eighteen minutes of the time the experiment began, he was fully restored to consciousness.

Forest City, on the Upper Missouri, was nearly destroyed by the recent high water in the river. Several fine frame houses had to be removed. The bank in front of the city has fallen in from twenty to twenty-five yards, and the Planter's House, on the main thoroughfare, is now only two hundred yards from the water.

The Perry Monument, on Gibraltar rock, the foundation stone of which was laid with imposing ceremonies, in the presence of a vast crowd from the Lake Erie cities and towns, on the 10th of September, 1853, and the second stone of which was never laid, is at last to be built, at the expense of Jay Cooke, who has purchased the island.

The Presbyterian General Assembly, Old and New Schools, met at St. Louis on the 17th. In the former, the sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. John M. Lowrie; and in the latter, by the Rev. Shaw. His children would hold no communication with him, and the miserable man turned from the scenes of his former peaceful, happy life, a wanderer and an outcast upon the face of the earth.

The railroad running from St. Louis to Springfield, Mo., was sold on the 13th inst., to John C. Fremont for $1,300,000. Seventy-seven miles of this road have already been completed. Its owners claim that it will be worth $12,000,000 when completed. Four or five millions will be necessary to finish it. This line is intended to be a part of the route provided for the Southern Pacific railroad in the Senate bill reported by Senator Brown of Missouri. Fremont obligates himself to finish it within four years from the date of purchase.

A destructive fire visited the town of Hudson, Wis., on the 19th, destroying the whole business portion of the town. Loss estimated at $250,000. The insurance on the town is about $100,000. Mr. Pike has written a letter to a citizen of Cincinnati, in which he says he will rebuild the Opera House, provided the public of Cincinnati will purchase $150,000 worth of tickets for the first season—the money to be subscribed at once. If this is done, he engages to make the Opera House more magnificent than ever, give double the facilities for singing and acting, and have it completed by the 15th of March, 1867.

On the 19th inst., the handsome railroad and carriage bridge on the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, over the Wisconsin river at Kilbourn City, was destroyed by fire, which doubtless originated from sparks from a locomotive. This line had been hauling over it more than 50,000 bushels of wheat per day, and large quantities of other freight, all of which traffic will have to be suspended. One effect of the disaster was to raise the wheat market, already abnormally high, nine cents per bushel within two hours. Kilbourn bridge was built in 1857 and cost about $25,000. It was 450 feet long, and 72 feet above the water, of the Howe truss plan, very thoroughly built, and the best railroad bridge in the State. It will be rebuilt within two months.

Eastern Matters.

The city of Newark, N. J., celebrated the two hundredth anniversary of its settlement on the 18th.

after midnight May 21-22. The fire broke out an hour after the opera performance closed. Two firemen perished, and one other was badly burned. The Academy of Music was valued at $355,000; insured for $150,000, and scenery, &c., for $30,000. Marett's loss is $70,000. Graff's loss is $40,000, neither insured. The University Medical College was valued at $45,000; insured for $25,000. The loss is estimated at over a million of dollars. Barrels in a restaurant in the rear of the Academy, set on fire, caused the conflagration. It was no doubt the work of an incendiary.

The strike of the New York ship carpenters, joiners, and caulkers continues, and the employers say if it lasts much longer they will remove their business to other ports. A multitude of heavy failures occurred almost simultaneously, among them that of the house of Sir Morton Peto & Co., for four million pounds sterling. It is believed, however, that their assets are abundant to cover all their liabilities. The entire community was in the wildest commotion, and the panic was only quieted by the announcement that the Government had resolved to suspend the bank charter act. The Bank of England increased its rate of discount to nine per cent. At the time of sailing of the steamer, the panic had almost subsided.

Reasons why the
AMERICAN WATCH
Made at WALTHAM, Mass.
IS THE BEST.

It is made on the best principle. Its frame is composed of SOLID PLATES. NO JAW can interfere with the harmony of its working and no sudden shock can injure its machinery. (Still famous for its novelty, and its fame is famous for its effectiveness) and it is therefore fully made. The watch is what mechanism and ACCURACY. Except some few grades too costly for general use, foreign watches are chiefly made for men and boys. Such watches are composed of uncounted pieces screwed and riveted together, and are constant repairs to keep them in any kind of order. All persons who have carried "American," "Elgin" and "F. Smith Patent Levers" are perfectly aware of the truth of this statement.

The beginning of our enterprise, more than ten years ago, it was our first object to make a thoroughly good priced watch for the million, to take the place of foreign importations—their quality was poor, and they were entirely unsuitable at home and in our foreign exportation.

As we have accomplished this, we may be understood in the fact, that after so many years of practice, we now make 30,000,000 WATCHES OF ALL GRADES SOLD IN THE UNITED STATES, and at 10 others have ever lived, and it is therefore fully made. While this department of our business has continued with increased facility, and it is at present engaged in the manufacture of one of the very HIGHEST GRADES KNOWN IN THE WORLD. For this purpose we have the best facilities. We have secured an addition to our building especially for this branch of our work, and have fitted it with the best workmen in the world. New machines and appliances have been introduced, which perform their work with consummate accuracy, satisfactory and accurate. The use of materials only are used, and we challenge the most improved chronometers. We do not pretend to make a watch for less money than any other watch, but we do not want to do so without fear of contradiction, that some among our products are fully appreciated, and its warranty is given at all times.

Our organization is in all parts of the world, and the public are cautioned to buy only reliable dealers. All persons selling our watches are prosecuted.

INCREASE OF RATS.—The Farmer's Gazette (English) asserts and proves by figures that one pair of RATS will have progeny and descendants no less than 651,000 in three years. Now, unless this immense family can be kept down, they would consume more food than would sustain 65,000 human beings.
